TUESDAY.....OCTOBER 16, 1900

"The Future of the American Negro" is the subject of a lecture to be given across the bay. Can it be other than dark?

Los Angeles has received a rush order from China for eight carloads of sauerkraut. The Kaiser is evidently endeavoring to prevent his troops from getting homesick.

A new musical club is to be organized in Alameda and is going to make a specialty of brass instruments. It is to be hoped that on practice nights the wind won't blow in this direction; we have troubles enough of our own.

Advices from our military representatives in the Philippines state that only Aguinaldo's personal followers are now "under arms." This must come perfectly natural to them in view of the fact that about everything he does is understood.

Although McKinley enthusiasts are trying to bring out some Bryan money by offering the tempting odds of four to one, many a dollar of Democratic coin can be obtained. Just what odds they are waiting for is hard to conceive, unless, perhaps, they are figuring on getting 16 to 1 so as to be fully in accord with Bryan's wild and woolly hobby horse.

A rich Filipino whose son was killed during an engagement with our troops has offered a bounty of $100 for the left ear of every American soldier who participated in that particular contest. If our coyote scalp combination from Central California could make close connections with some medical college, that wealthy Filipino would soon have a warehouse full of ears and no money.

Li Hung Chang's attempted peace negotiations are liable to fall to the ground now that the Boxers have taken the war-path again in the interior. The Kaiser must be having a quiet little chuckle to himself as he sees the other nations preparing to rush back troops to the scene of action, thus virtually conceding that he was in the right when he refused to remove his army from Peking until the sky was clear.

Henry S. Fonge, who was United States District Attorney for this district during Cleveland's administration, and who never voted a Republican ticket in his life, is going to do so this time, and what is more, he is publicly crusading against his old political associates. With this sort of thing going on all over California, and in fact throughout the entire country, it doesn't take much of a prophet to forecast what is going to happen to Bryan on the 6th of next month.

TAXATION OF CHURCHES.

At the coming election the amendment to the State Constitution exempting from taxation church buildings and so much of the real property upon which they are situated as may be convenient for their use, will be submitted to the approval of the voters. It is a very important matter and one that should not be lost sight of in the hurly-burly of partisan politics.

This amendment should be adopted. It has been thoroughly debated, both in the press, and in the Legislature, and no sound reason has been presented against its adoption. It does not exempt denominational property held for income or speculative purposes, but simply relieves from the burden of taxation houses of public worship and the lots on which they stand. These buildings cannot be construed as property in the sense that it is used for purposes of taxation.

In all civilized countries and in nearly every State of the Union churches are exempted from the payment of taxes. It is an anomaly that they should be assessed at all, for the uses to which they are put forbid the idea that they have a value in the commercial sense. Their moral value alone precludes the idea of placing them in the same category for revenue purposes as a saloon or a hotel. Why should we lay a tax on the worship of the living God? for that in reality is the effect of the present law. Such a proceeding in a Christian country seems to be utterly inconceivable.

California ranks as one of the most enlightened States of the Union, but in the matter of taxing churches she is distinctly behind her neighbors. By imposing an unnecessary burden on congregations the work of moral and religious education is hampered and nothing in reality is gained, for it is placing a tax on church attendants that should be borne by the community at large.

The amendment that will be voted on next month was very carefully drawn. It is the fruit of general discussion and was framed to meet all possible objections, unless it be objections raised from motives of prejudice against churches in general. The Senate Judiciary devoted much consideration to the measure and finally reported it, with only one vote in opposition. It passed both houses practically without dissent, showing that the discussion had developed no serious ground for opposition. Senator Stratton was one of the earnest advocates of the amendment, which is a guarantee that it contains no mischievous feature.

It is to be hoped that the amendment will be adopted. A multitude of sound reasons commend it. We trust no voter who appreciates the value of religious instruction and the beneficial effects of its moral influence will fail to give it his approval at the polls.

ABUSING THE LAW.

To thinking men and women who read the newspapers the idea must frequently occur that the average citizen has no conception of law and justice. How often we read of the arrest of a defaulting clerk, for instance, with the added information that "as his relatives (or friends) have made restitution, the firm for which he worked declines to prosecute him." In other words, the courts have been used as instruments in a species of blackmail. A firm says: "Here; your son or brother or friend, as the case may be, has stolen from us. Restore the money or we will send him to the penitentiary."

We all know that this in itself is a crime, but who is even punished for it, though it is a common practice? No one. The victim of a larceny-stealer is locked up as a witness lest the case may be "squared," but rich firms or individuals with influence "square" cases so frequently that no dishonest clerk with influential acquaintances need ever expect to wear a convict's stripes.

A case across the bay shows an important extension of the principle that should receive serious attention. In calling at the home of his wife, from whom he was seeking a divorce, a man was shot by the woman because he desired to take his little son out walking. He was seriously wounded, but we hear the old story, "He will not prosecute." One may well ask, "What has he to do with it?" The woman shot him and in so doing violated not the code of her own family but the law of the whole State. The shooting was a crime, no matter who the parties were, and if the crime go unpunished, what safeguard has the community against a repetition of the act by the same woman or by others? And if she is to be unpunished why should the next assassin be treated with severity?

The fact is that compounding a felony, as it is called, has become so frequent an occurrence as actually to encourage defalcation, on the one hand, and on the other more or less successful attempts to murder. Where to lay the responsibility for this condition of affairs is something that invites the investigation of both bench and bar. That the laws are all right cannot be questioned, nor will any one gain say that the courts wield their power with fairness and justice. The police, on their part, arrest offenders. Why, then, are these criminals not punished? Because, through neglect to enforce section 153 of the Penal Code of this State, people have come to regard the law as being a matter in which, when it affects them, they are alone interested. The section referred to reads as follows:

"Every person who having knowledge of the actual commission of a crime, takes money or property of another, or any gratuity or reward, or makes any agreement or has any understanding to compound or conceal such crime, or to abstain from any prosecution thereof, or to withhold any evidence thereof is punishable as follows: And then appear the punishments, ranging from fines and imprisonment for six months in the County Jail to confinement for five years in the penitentiary.

Let this be enforced and we venture to assert that a noticeable diminution in crime will follow. Stop patting felons on the back.

PORTO RICO IS ALL RIGHT.

It seems not to occur to some of the critics of the Administration that the Porto Ricans are doing very well indeed; that their taxes are far lighter than they were under the Spanish regime; and that they are in a far more advantageous position as colonists than were the people of their own blood and language who were gathered into the Union by the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo over half a century ago. During the last year of his Spanish majesty Alfonso's sovereignty over the West Indian island, the inhabitants paid in taxes of all kinds the sum of $3,064,253.73. Nothing escaped the keen eye of the Spanish collectors, from the frijoles in the pot to the windows and chimneys of the houses. All manufacturers paid tribute as producers, gave up more money because they owned land, and finally had to yield more coin for the very goods that were turned out from the factories. Workingmen were taxed right and left. They could hardly raise their hands without a highly-uniformed Spanish functionary pouncing down upon them with the authority and means to collect tribute for the crown of Castile and Aragon, not to mention Asturias, Andalusia and a few other provinces on the Iberian peninsula where officials who never saw the land where they were named as employees of the crown waxed fat on commissions and draw downs.

Under American rule, what a difference! The first year of our occupation of the island all the Porto Ricans had to pay in taxes was $1,000,000, and a recent writer on the subject, summing it up succinctly, says very truly: "Stamps on contracts, transfers and other documents have been abolished. There is no more export tax. Porto Rico formerly contributed to the maintenance of a colonial bureau to pension the descendants of Columbus and to the support of the Spanish army and navy. They were required to pay for military courts. All this is abolished. The United States has established uniform standards of currency with the outside world and regular rates of exchange. It has given local power to the municipalities, based upon popular suffrage. There are now Porto Rican troops and police. The courts have been much improved."

Porto Rico is all right, and now relieved of the awful incubus of Spanish officialism she should make gigantic steps in the line of progress.

The Fad

Of the modern woman is health by exercise. It is an excellent fact, and one that is always remembered that exercise cannot cure womanly diseases.

Indeed, where such diseases exist exercise is apt to aggravate the condition rather than to help it.

The first step toward establishing the general health is to establish the local womanly health.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures womanly diseases which undermine the general health.

It establishes regularity, dries enfeebled organs, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

When these are cured, backache, headache and nervousness are things of the past. The universal testimony of weak and sickly women cured by "Favorite Prescription," is this: "It has made me feel like a new woman."

"My wife has used three bottles of Dr. Pierce's medicine, and I never saw such results," writes A. B. Hayes, Esq. of Ames, Lawrence, Mass. "It was wonderful in its work. We had used lots of medicine, also had one of the best physicians in Ames, but my wife got no better; we heard one pitiful groan after another, day and night. A friend handed me a copy of Dr. Pierce's book, the 'Common Sense' Medical Adviser, and after reading the testimonials of Dr. Pierce's successful treatment, and seeing that the cases described were similar to mine, I bought for her a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Before she had taken all of the medicine she was up and helping to do the work. She has taken three bottles and is now well. She has better health than she has had for years."

BAYONETS BAR MARCH OF STRIKERS

Soldiers Turn Back Miners on the Highway.

Refuse to Allow Them to Approach the Collieries

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

LANSDOWN, Pa., Oct. 16.—About 1,500 men and sixty women and girls marched eighteen miles from the South Side of the Hazleton region during the night for the Panther Creek Valley, where they expected to close the ten collieries of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, but just as the weary marchers were nearing their destination this morning they were met on a mountain road by three companies of infantry and at the point of the bayonet were driven back four miles to Tamaqua and dispersed.

Another crowd of 800 strikers from the North Side of Hazleton also marched here and succeeded in closing the company's No. 1 colliery at Nesquehoning, near Mauch Chunk, before it was started. The presence of the soldiers was entirely unexpected, and the strikers were much crestfallen that they failed in accomplishing the object of their long march.

It was probably the most exciting morning that the Panther Creek and Nesquehoning Valleys have ever experienced. Strikers were scattered over the various roads and companies of soldiers were scouring in all directions, heading off the marching men. For a moment just after the two forces met on the road in the darkness it looked as if a clash would come, but the good sense of those who had charge of the strikers prevented a conflict.

The march on Panther Creek Valley was on the strikers' program for several days. The United Mine Workers ever since the strike started have been attempting to close the collieries of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company in this region. Organizers were constantly in the region, but as a rule they did not meet with much success, so it was decided to use stronger methods to get the men employed in the ten mines out on strike. Accordingly it was arranged that a big demonstration should be held in the valley. It was to have been held yesterday morning, but owing to the heavy rain and muddy roads it was called off until this morning.

Those who took part were strikers from McAdoo, Yorktown, Bunker Hill and Silver Brook from the South Side of Hazleton, and the Freedland, Drifton, Jeddo and Beaver Meadow strikers from the North Side. The women and girls all came from McAdoo, which borough is the only one in the Hazleton region which has organized female marchers.

The marchers came down like two armies, the South Side men marching by way of Tamaqua, while the strikers from the North Side went over the mountain at Beaver Meadow and entered the Panther Creek Valley via Nesquehoning. The South Side army concentrated at McAdoo and the order to march was given at 10:30 o'clock last night. There were several fire and drum corps and a brass band in the line. The women and girls were conveyed in two large omnibuses. The whole town of McAdoo went out to see the marchers start. Until 12 o'clock the night was very dark, it being difficult to see any distance in the mountain passes, but after midnight the moon came out from behind a bank of clouds and for the remainder of the journey the marchers had plenty of light. As the town of Tamaqua was entered at 2 A. M. the strikers began to make as much noise as they could. The marchers went through the town without stopping for rest and headed for Coal Dale, four and a half miles away.

Carriages containing newspaper correspondents who had been trailing along at the rear of the procession, were requested to take the lead, so they would not interfere with the plans of the strikers. Following the newspaper men came the two conveyances containing the McAdoo women and then followed a long line of Hungarians, Italians, Poles, Slavs and English-speaking mine workers.

At a point half a mile from Coal Dale there is a sharp turn in the road, and as the newspaper men rounded it there came a command of "Halt," and about fifty feet in front of them stood solid rows of soldiers who were stretched across the road with bayonets fixed. Sheriff Toole of Schuylkill county was with them. The commander of the troops, speaking to the waiting crowd, said:

"In the name of the people of the State of Pennsylvania I command you to disperse and to return whence you came."

The strikers began to protest; that they could not be stopped on a public highway, and many of them showed a disposition to resist the soldiers. The officer in charge of the troops, however, kept his men in position and the strikers, seeing that the soldiers evidently meant business, slowly began turning toward Tamaqua.

"Mother" Jones vehemently protested against the action of the troops in stopping the marchers, but she was shut off and ordered to move on. The McAdoo women had to be almost pushed along, so slowly did they walk. They continually jeered at the soldiers, calling them all kinds of names and threatening them with punishment if they should dare to visit McAdoo. It took from 3 to 4 o'clock to drive the crowd back to Tamaqua.

During all this time the identity of the troops was unknown, owing to the darkness, and it was reported through the crowd that they belonged to the Thirtieth Regiment of Scranton. The soldiers were really members of the Fourth Regiment, which had been stationed at Shenandoah for three weeks. Eight companies of the regiment left Shenandoah at 12:30 A. M., leaving two companies behind. Brigade General Gobin was in command. On their arrival at Coal Dale three companies under command of Colonel O'Neill were sent out to meet the South Side marchers. Three companies were left at Coal Dale, while two companies under command of General Gobin came here.

When the soldiers had driven the strikers over the mountain a company was sent back to Coal Dale, where the soldiers boarded coal cars and were sent to Tamaqua to quell any disturbance the scattering strikers might stir up there.

Further along the road a company was deployed to protect a colliery while the marchers were passing it, and later it was also sent to Tamaqua. The three companies combined in the latter town and soon had the marchers well scattered. While all this had been going on the North Side marchers had everything their own way in the Nesquehoning Valley. They reached there after a 10 o'clock start and succeeded in persuading enough men to remain away from the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company's No. 1 colliery to compel its shut down. General Gobin sent two companies of soldiers over there and soon had order restored.

Superintendent W. D. Zehner of the company, stated to a representative of the Associated Press that the Sheriff of Berks County, in which the col-

Lewis Cornaro, a celebrity of the sixteenth century, who, by careful living, reached the age of one hundred years, hale, hearty and with the faculties unimpaired, has left us the following maxims which it were well to heed:

"It is not good to eat too much, nor fast too long, nor do anything else that is pre-natural."

"Old men fast easily; men of ripe age can fast almost as much; but young persons and children that are brisk and lively, can hardly fast at all."

In comparison with other foods, but a small quantity of H-O (Hornby's Steam Cooked Oatmeal) is necessary to furnish sufficient sustenance for either the old or the young, the food value of one pound of H-O being equal to one and three-quarter pounds of mutton.

POWERS ACCEPT FRENCH NOTE.

Diplomatic Corps in Peking Approves the Plan.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

PARIS, Oct. 16.—At a Cabinet council held at the Elysee Palace today the Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. Del Casse, announced that all the powers have accepted the French note as the basis for negotiations.

The Minister added that he had been informed Li Hung Chang has just ordered the Black Flags and Kwang Si troops, which are traversing the province of Hunan, on their way to join the court at San Lu, to abandon their march and return to Canton.

A dispatch received by the Havas Agency from Tien Tsin, dated October 15th, says:

"The British Ambassador, being informed from London of the basis of negotiations proposed by M. Del Casse (French Minister of Foreign Affairs), called a meeting of the diplomatic corps in Peking. The French propositions were unanimously approved and appreciation was expressed of France's initiative.

"United States Minister Conger alone raised an objection, not against the propositions, but against the method of procedure. Mr. Conger deemed that the French propositions would have to be imposed upon the Chinese during the negotiations. While these propositions are formulated as being the basis of negotiations, different Ministers, among others the British and Italian, presented certain demands, especially the replacement of the Tsung Li Yamen by a Minister of Foreign Affairs and posting for two years of the decrees concerning the punishment of the instigators of the anti-European movement. These demands were approved by all Ministers."

According to the same dispatch, should Pao Ting Fu resist the demands to surrender, the place will be bombarded and the inhabitants exemplarily punished.

TESTIMONY IN YOUTSEY TRIAL.

Defendant Brought to Court Room in a Bed.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Oct. 16.—The trial of Henry Youtsey on the charge of complicity in the Goebel assassination was resumed today, although Youtsey's condition was unchanged. He was placed on a bed which was pulled up to a doorway in the court room, in plain view.

Wharton Golden was the first witness to take the stand. Golden said he never told the Rev. John Stamper or Mrs. Stamper that he was a party to the assassination, nor that if he could see Colonel Campbell, he could get $10,000. He denied all the statements attributed to him by the Stamper, J. B. Sinclair and others.

W. F. Culion was recalled and again testified that Charles Campbell told him he had a contract for immunity, nor had he told one Chipley that Wharton Golden had gotten them all in this trouble.

Arthur M. Goebel was recalled and in answer to a question from Colonel Nelson, said he had never testified in any of these cases until yesterday. Lieutenant John Ricketts said he remembered seeing Youtsey some days after the shooting took place in Captain and Mrs. Youtsey's home in Lexington, Ky. He asked Bennett who Youtsey was. On cross-examination he said he knew Youtsey's face as being the man he had seen and talked to before, but did not know his name.

ROBERTS TAKES ANOTHER FIFTY.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—Lord Roberts reports from Pretoria, under date of October 15, as follows:

"French started from Machadopolis towards Heidelberg to clear a part of the country not yet visited by our troops."

"Mahon, commanding the mounted troops, successfully engaged the enemy on October 12, but our losses were severe. Three officers and eight men being killed and three officers and twenty-five men wounded."

French occupied Carolina yesterday, capturing a convoy during his march."

Lord Roberts also reports a number of minor affairs, showing that the Boers are still active over a wide field."
